ENRICHING EXPERIENCES FOR OUR GUESTS AND OUR ENVIRONMENT

We believe that a responsible meeting is not only what you experience in the meeting room but also knowing that your hotel respects the destination around it.

We’re proud to partner with the leaders in geotourism, the National Geographic Center for Sustainable Destinations. Our ambition is that guests enjoy enriching experiences that reveal what makes a place truly special – its heritage, culture and tradition – and the importance of protecting it.

At InterContinental we use a holistic approach to being a responsible business: to work from the grass roots up, recognising each individual hotel team as the experts best placed to use their local knowledge for developing community and environmental initiatives that meet the specific needs of the destination. This Insider Collection gives delegates access to some of these unique experiences, and for those meetings that stay in the meeting room, you can be assured our hotel is working behind the scenes to protect what is special about the place for fellow travellers.

Tangkuban Perahu is an active volcano located 25-30 kilometers north of Bandung city, direction to the small town of Lembang. This volcano offers many places to see and explore. Whether we look into the huge and beautiful crater, stroll through the forests or simply enjoy the splendid panoramic scenery. A blend of natural beauty and its popular Sundanese legend story, makes Tangkuban Perahu as a tourist icon and an exciting tourists destination in Bandung.

Mount Tangkuban Perahu has a Sundanese legend story behind its distinctive and peculiar shape resembles an “up-turned boat” shape. The story tells about the young boy named Sangkuriang failed to fulfill his promises to make boats and lake at one night, as a condition to marry Dayang Sumbi without knowing that she is actually his own mother. Seeing that he had not yet finished his work, Sangkuriang kicked the large boat to the north and it turned into Mount Tangkuban Perahu or “Up-turned Boat Mountain”.
EXPLORING THE CULTURE AND THE HISTORY OF LOCAL HERITAGE

Gedung Merdeka known as Merdeka Building is one of the major landmarks of the city and only 35 minutes drive away from InterContinental Bandung Dago Pakar.

The historic first Asian African Conference was convened here in 1955. Nowadays the charming architecture still is a sought after motive for various purposes, such as magazine, pre-wedding shots or just a memorable photos for tourists.
Tebing Keraton is a cliff north of Bandung currently the most popular destination for its magnificent view located inside Taman Hutan Raya Djuanda "Forest Park" Conservation Area. The best time to visit this place is before 6am. Start your day with a magical morning by watching as the sun into sky and night turns into day with lush forest and hills as the backdrop.

In the morning, Tebing Keraton is crowded with visitors who mostly want to watch the sunrise. The movement of the mist hovering and sliding among the trees especially when the sun shines through the fog, is something you cannot forget easily.

The most notable types of Sundanese music instruments are angklung bamboo, kecapi, suling, and gamelan music. The Angklung bamboo is considered one of the world heritages of intangible culture. It is made of two to four bamboo tubes attached to a bamboo frame.

The Sundanese are indigenous people in the western part of Java. Until the 15th century, the Sunda region of Java was home to a powerful kingdom which remained independent of numerous Javanese empires. As a result, the musical forms of Sunda were profoundly different from those of other areas of the island. Eventually, Sundanese music would incorporate Javanese cultural and musical influence, but without losing its own creative spirit.

Bajigur is a hot and sweet beverage from Sunda in West Java, Indonesia. The main ingredients are coconut milk and palm sugar. To enhance the flavour a small pinch of salt and cinnamon powder is also added. Prior to serving it is often garnished with 'Kolang-Kaling' (palm fruit) and fragrant leaves. The native Sundanese people usually drink Bajigur accompanied by traditional afternoon snacks, such as boiled sweet potatoes, peanuts, cassava and steamed banana.
Clorot cake is another traditional Sundanese snack. The unique feature about it is its trumpet-like shape, wrapped in coconut leaves. Kue Clorot consists of rice flour as its main ingredient, coconut milk and brown sugar and its flavour is sweet and savory, while the texture is creamy.

The other well-known traditional Sundanese snack is Dodol. It is originally from the small city 'Garut' in West Java, Indonesia. Garut is an old hill station and a characteristic Sundanese town in the highlands, surrounded by mountains, volcanoes, and crystal clear lakes. It is located less than 65 KM away from Bandung. Garut has many traditional foods. The most famous local food is Dodol. It is a sweet candy made by stirring glutinous rice flour, fragrant palm sugar and coconut milk in a big wok continuously for long hours until the liquid thickens. It has a chewy but sticky texture and tastes delicious.
