what had happened was...

Kemmons Wilson was an idea man. His idea, back in 1951, was to build a family friendly hotel chain that stretched across the country, each within a day's drive of the next. By August of 1952, he was building his first of what would become many hotels and was having difficulty with a name for the brand. As Kemmons and his draftsman friend were watching a showing of the movie "Holiday Inn", starring legendary song and dance men, Fred Astaire and Bing Crosby, another idea struck and the "Holiday Inn" chain of hotels was born.

Fast-forward 65 years and there we were, on the verge of greatness but without a name. Inspired by Kemmons, we also referred back to that same American classic for an idea. Referencing the 1940s era film and using the last names of the two main characters, Ted Hanover and Jim Hardy, we have come up with a name that is as unique as we are. With that said, we are proud to acquaint you with Hanover & Hardy's Public House!

Our mission is to offer our guests a relaxed and comfortable experience in our brand new space, offering both a delicious menu and a wide variety of local (and we mean local!) craft beers on tap. Look for menu items and daily specials carefully crafted by our award winning Chef! Our friendly and experienced service staff hope to create an energy similar to our original idea man, creating an energy that is both engaging and inviting as well as comfortable and friendly. Enjoy!
